NOW MORE THAN EVER

JANUARY 12-14
HOTEL ALBUQUERQUE
ALBUQUERQUE, NM

THE 18TH ANNUAL
Children’s Law Institute
2011
January 12, 2011

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

On behalf of the Supreme Court of New Mexico, I welcome you to the 18th Annual Children’s Law Institute. This Institute has become a valuable conference for judges, attorneys, child welfare advocates, state employees, and youth alike. Our state judiciary is a committed partner in these collaborative efforts and in the child welfare system.

Last year, our Court ordered that the Court Improvement Project be formally recognized as an advisory board to make recommendations to us for innovative approaches that advance court, agency, and stakeholder collaboration in improving the safety, permanency, and well-being of children and families in the child welfare system. The Project’s accomplishments are noteworthy, including the success of this conference.

We appreciate the innovative ideas that were generated at the Child Welfare Improvement meetings, sponsored by the Project last fall. Judges in all thirteen districts convened stakeholder meetings to address barriers to creating permanency for children and families. These kinds of meaningful and ongoing collaborative efforts make our justice system stronger.

The theme of the Institute this year, “Now More than Ever,” is significant. We are in a time of significant changes and challenges, filled with difficult budget decisions, increased caseloads, and heightened demands. We must meet these challenges with a renewed commitment to provide quality representation, guidance, and services for New Mexico’s children and families.

Over the next few days, you will hear from local leaders and national experts about best practices and promising ideas that can positively affect New Mexico’s children and families, ideas you can take back to your communities to help further improve people’s lives.

Thank you for taking time to attend this important program. We expect that it will be interesting, educational, and inspiring.

Sincerely,

Charles W. Daniels, Chief Justice

Detailed Conference Agenda

Wednesday January 12, 2011

9:00–Noon | Pre-Conference Session (Hosted by CASA)
Transforming Trauma - How to Do This Work and Not Completely Lose Our Minds! | Alvarado ABC
As human beings, we are affected by our surroundings. When exposed to hardship, crises, stressful circumstances, and/or trauma we attempt to make sense of what we see, hear and experience the best we can. In this workshop we explore how we are impacted by our society, work and/or careers. Through a larger backdrop of systematic oppression and liberation theory we come to understand the shifts that occur in us personally and professionally and why we adapt the way we do. The discussion focuses on how to reconcile what we experience in our work and the world around us in a way that is compassionate and honest as well as accountable and sustainable. Whether one may be experiencing fatigue, cynicism, guilt, a sense of not doing enough or any other number of consequences of demanding work, we come to understand how we can make choices that will allow us to interact with our work and our lives in such a way as to remain true to ourselves and those we serve. While respecting the seriousness of the issues at hand, this path incorporates much humor and a profound sense of hopefulness by drawing on a broad base of clinical approaches, social justice theory and spiritual traditions. This pre-session offers 2.75 CEUs.
PRESENTER: Laura van Dernoot Lipsky, author of “Trauma Stewardship” – an everyday guide for caring for yourself while caring for others.

9:30–Noon | Pre-Conference Session
Nuts and Bolts of Trial Practice in Child Welfare Cases | Alvarado FGH
This session will cover the fundamental trial skills of a child welfare case with emphasis on direct and cross examination. The course will cover case analysis, opening statement, direct, cross, objections, introducing evidence, and closing argument. Using case analysis tools, the session ties together all elements of the trial through the art of trial storytelling. The course is based on the new book, scheduled for publication in 2011, Trial Advocacy for the Child Welfare Professional: Telling the Story of the Family, by session presenter Marvin Ventrell. This pre-session offers 2.7 general CLEs for judges and attorneys.
PRESENTER: Marvin Ventrell, Founder of the Juvenile Law Society, former Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of Counsel for Children (NACC).

1:00–3:00 | Welcome & Introduction, Opening Performance | Alvarado Ballroom
PRESENTERS: The Honorable Charles Daniels, Chief Justice, New Mexico Supreme Court; Secretary Designee, Children, Youth and Families Department; Brian O’Connell, Executive Director, NM Child Advocacy Networks
2010 Albuquerque City Slam Poetry Team and 2010 ABQ Unidos Youth Poetry Slam Team
The poetry slam is a half-art form, half-sport phenomenon that is made spectacle in libraries, bars, lecture halls, coffee shops and amphitheaters across the globe. As practiced in Albuquerque, New Mexico, “the competitive art of performance poetry” is a full contact sport that is intent on converting spectators into participants. This year, the Albuquerque Slam Team placed 5th at the National Championships. This class of Albuquerque’s finest are comprised of present and former teachers, an Americorps volunteer, a graduate student, a journal editor, a journalist, multi-published authors/poets, musicians, recording artists, actors, parents, a fiancé, poetry workshop facilitators, community/arts/event organizers and student mentors. Workshop Descriptions

Workshop Session I: Wednesday, 3:30 p.m.–5:00 p.m.

Core Service Agencies
The Core Service Agency (CSA) system is a new model for providing behavioral health care that is still being developed statewide in New Mexico. The CSAs coordinate care and provides essential services to children, youth and adults who have a serious mental illness, severe emotional disturbance, or dependence on alcohol or drugs. This presentation will provide basic facts about the development of the CSAs and how the CSAs promote a coordinated service delivery system with an emphasis on planned Recovery and Resiliency supports. The services provided by the CSAs will be discussed, including Comprehensive Community Support Services (CCSS). Participants will receive “Facts at a Glance” that includes contact information for all CSAs and other information to share with consumers, families and community partners.

Room: Alvarado A

Presenter: Elizabeth Martin, Senior Director of CSA & BHSD Services for OptumHealth New Mexico (OHN); Pam Martin, Ph.D. ABPP, Licensed Clinical Psychologist; Craig Sparks, Deputy Director of Programs for CYFD

---

Enhancing Practice—Improving Outcomes for New Mexico’s Children, Youth and Families
This workshop will present an update on CYFD Protective Services’ ongoing project to revise and update its Practice Model for how it engages with children, youth and their families. The new/revised Practice Model will coordinate policies with children, youth and family interventions. The Practice Model will articulate the agency framework to continue to achieve safety, permanency and well-being outcomes for the families with whom they are involved. During the workshop you will hear from Protective Services staff and stakeholders who have been working directly on developing the model, establishing outcome measures and developing internal and external communication strategies.

Room: Alvarado BC

Presenter: Isela Barciaga, CYFD Liaison for the Mountains and Plains Child Welfare Implementation Center and Protective Services; Delphine Trujillo, Permanency Planning Supervisor Santa Fe County, CYFD; Marianne Hernandez, CYFD; Mary Ann Shaening, President, Shaening and Associates; Chuck Neelley, Attorney Master, CYFD

---

Secondary Trauma and How to Reconcile its Impact
Approved for 1.5 Professionalism CLEs
This workshop will examine how we as human beings are affected when we are exposed to the hardship, crises, stressful circumstances and/or trauma of the families in our child welfare system and even of the system itself. The discussion will explore the shifts that occur within us that often lead to fatigue, cynicism, guilt, or a sense of not doing enough. With respect and humor, we will draw on a broad base of clinical approaches, social justice theory and spiritual traditions to discover how we can make choices, and make a plan, to remain true to ourselves and those people we serve as we work in this system. We will also examine how to support our colleagues and the people we supervise.

Room: Alvarado D

Presenter: Laura van Dernoot Lipsky, Author, Trauma Worker; Deborah Dungan, Child Welfare and Juvenile Justice Attorney, Administrative Office of the Courts in New Mexico

Knowing Who You Are
This workshop will share information about the Knowing Who You Are Curriculum, which was created with the direct collaboration of alumni of foster care, youth still in care, birth parents, and resource families. This curriculum helps child welfare professionals explore race and ethnicity, and prepares them to support the healthy development of their constituents’ racial and ethnic identities.

Room: Alvarado E

Presenters: Maxine Jones-Robinson and Virginia Flores, Texas Child Protective Services

---

Making and Meeting Objections in Children’s Court: The Rules of the Trial
This workshop will cover the process and the law of making and meeting (responding to) objections in abuse and neglect dependency cases. Objections are “the rules of trial” and they are often underused in adjudications and termination of parental rights hearings, thereby inserting unreliable evidence into the record.

Room: Alvarado FGH

Presenters: Marvin Ventrell, Founder of the Juvenile Law Society, former Chief Executive Officer of the National Association of Counsel for Children (NACC)

Gender Responsiveness for Improved Outcomes
Trends in juvenile justice reveal an increase in the number of girls referred to the courts for delinquent offenses. The need for female responsive services has been acknowledged and progress in meeting the unique needs of female offenders is gradually being realized. However, in our zeal to do so, we risk overlooking the various needs of juvenile justice boys. Girls and boys enter the juvenile justice system for distinctly different types of delinquent behavior. It is our responsibility to ensure that the juvenile justice system offers appropriate programs and services that effectively serve all delinquent youth under our supervision. The workshop will address and consider numerous gender factors in planning for and achieving improved outcomes for court-involved girls and boys.

Room: Franciscan

Presenter: Roberta Muro, Bernalillo County Girls Probation Unit; Judge John Romero, Second Judicial District
Workshop Session II: Thursday, 8:30 a.m.—10:00 a.m.

Evidentiary Issues in Children’s Court
This workshop will focus on the most common evidentiary issues that arise in children’s court—including hearsay, experts, and exhibits (electronic evidence). The material will be presented through a series of hypothetical problems.

This workshop will repeat in Alvarado D during Workshop Session III.

Room: Alvarado A

Presenter: Barbara Bergman, Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the University of New Mexico School of Law

Heartbreaking Tragedy: Stop the Epidemic of Youth Suicide in New Mexico
One young person in NM dies by suicide each week and the number of attempts is far higher. This workshop provides a look at youth suicide prevention that starts with the scope of the problem and why it happens; shows what you can do to help a young person at risk for suicide stay alive; then outlines what is needed in our families, schools and communities to stop this epidemic of youth deaths.

Room: Alvarado BC

Presenter: JoAnn Sartorius, LISW

Child Welfare & Juvenile Justice 101
This workshop will cover and in-depth introduction to Juvenile Justice and Child Welfare issues and systems in New Mexico. Practice, legal issues, Juvenile Probation and aftercare will all be covered.

Room: Alvarado D

Presenters: Angela Adams, JBS International, Deborah Martinez, JBS International, Inc., Carolyn Lee, Chief JPO 12th Judicial District; Ted Lovato, CYFD

Exploring Sexual Health with Youth Who Have Experienced Sexual Harm
Children in foster care are 71% more likely to experience unplanned and unwanted pregnancy than youth not involved with child welfare. This workshop illustrates a research-based approach for sexual health with youth who have experienced sexual harm. We will discuss the need to address both sexuality education combined with a trauma sensitive foundation for healing the pain of abuse.

Room: Alvarado E

Presenter: JoAnn Schladale, Founder and Executive Director of Resources For Resolving Violence, Inc.

Challenging Neutrality and Developing Supervised Visitation and Exchange Policies that Account for Safety of Children and Adult Victims
This workshop will examine the issue of neutrality when providing supervised visitation and safe exchange services and what this means for service providers. It will discuss the significance of having equal regard for the safety of children and adult victims of domestic violence and the relation of this principle to neutrality and effective policy development. We will also discuss practice pointers on the mechanics for developing effective policies that take this principle into account; how centers can work to achieve equal regard for the safety of children and adult victims; and how to integrate policies into daily center practice.

Room: Alvarado FGH

Presenter: Laura Connelly, Assistant Director, Advocates for Family Peace

The National Youth in Transition Database (NYTD): Improving Outcomes for Youth Aging Out of Foster Care
The National Youth in Transition Database (NYTD) requires that states engage in data collection around the services provided to youth in the child welfare system and outcomes related to youth who have aged out of care. This workshop will provide background information on NYTD and an overview of activities underway by the State of New Mexico in preparation for reporting to NYTD. The presenters will summarize the findings of outcomes test data as well as how social workers, attorneys, community providers, and foster parents can support improved outcomes for youth in the child welfare system.

Room: Alvarado A

Presenter: Jon R. Courtney, Ph.D., CYFD; Patrice Perrat, MSW, CYFD

Walking the Path: Coping with Suicide Loss
Suicide throws a kink into grief with the issues of stigma, guilt, anger, and blame added to the process. This workshop will take the time to discuss the emotions that suicide grief entails and how to help families, as well as their individual members, cope. It also will explore how extended family and the community are affected by a suicide. Suicide is a multi-faceted issue but with help and knowledge, people bereaved by suicide can find hope and healing.

Room: Alvarado BC

Presenter: Michelle Linn-Gust, Ph.D., Author and Speaker

Evidentiary Issues in Children’s Court
This workshop will focus on the most common evidentiary issues that arise in children’s court — including hearsay, experts, and exhibits (electronic evidence). The material will be presented through a series of hypothetical problems.

Room: Alvarado D

Presenter: Barbara Bergman, Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the University of New Mexico School of Law

---

Representing Parents in Child Welfare Cases: Strategies for Effective Legal Representation Inside and Outside the Courtroom (PART I)
This highly interactive workshop will allow participants to share communication and courtroom strategies inherent to representing parents in the child welfare system. Playing a “live version” of a video game developed as a training tool for new attorneys, participants will meet clients with issues ranging from addiction, domestic violence issues and developmental delays, and take them from the interview room into the courtroom.

Room: Franciscan

Presenters: David M. Meyers, Senior Attorney, Center for Families, Children & the Courts & the Judicial Council of California, Administrative Office of the Courts

Strategies for Effective Legal Representation Inside and Outside the Courtroom (PART II)

Prejudice and Punishment: Judging Mothers Who Use Drugs
This workshop will address the legislative and policy responses to the issue of pregnancy and drug use, focusing particularly on civil child welfare laws. Throughout the late 1980s and still today, claims regarding pregnant and parenting women’s drug use and its impact on child welfare have played a significant role in shaping responses to the issue. The response in many instances has been judgmental and punitive calling for mandatory testing and reporting, arrest and prosecution of mothers and the removal of their children. Evidence based medical and social science research supports implementation of a variety of non-punitive responses that promote trust, enhance confidentiality and are more likely to improve maternal, fetal, child and family health. This workshop will discuss these issues and the medical research to support effective and alternative approaches.

Room: Alvarado E
Presenters: Emma Ketteringham, Director of Legal Advocacy for National Advocates for Pregnancy Pregnant Women

CYFD Protective Services, with the assistance of the National Resource Center for Child Protective Services, recently developed and is now implementing a new safety management model to provide a framework for decision making in child welfare cases. The reason for and the rationale behind the new model will be reviewed. Key terminology and the foundation of the model will be presented. A review the NM Safety Assessment Instrument will also be provided. Participants will learn how safety is managed throughout the life of the case and how safety assessment and management become the basis for decisions on achieving permanency.

Room: Alvarado FGH
Presenter: Maryellen Bearzi, Administrative Deputy Director, Protective Services Division, Children, Youth & Families Department

Representing Parents in Child Welfare Cases:
Strategies for Effective Legal Representation Inside and Outside the Courtroom (PART II)
This highly interactive workshop will allow participants to share communication and courtroom strategies inherent to representing parents in the child welfare system. Playing a “live version” of a video game developed as a training tool for new attorneys, participants will meet clients with issues ranging from addiction, domestic violence issues and developmental delays, and take them from the interview room into the courtroom. This is the second workshop in a 2 part series. All participants are welcome - you do not need Part I to attend.

Room: Franciscan
Presenter: David M. Meyers, Senior Attorney, Center for Families, Children & the Courts & the Judicial Council of California, Administrative Office of the Courts

Workshop Session IV: Thursday, 1:30 p.m.–3:00 p.m.

Speaking Your Truth: Tools to Use When Speaking About Race and Ethnicity
This workshop will present information on how to have “courageous conversations” and the relationship between that skill and our work as child welfare professionals. We will discuss what is meant by “courageous conversations,” and how to have conversations about race and ethnicity. This hands-on workshop will also provide the opportunity for participants to practice these skills.

This workshop is repeated in Alvarado FGH during Workshop Session V
Room: Alvarado A
Presenters: Maxine Jones-Robinson and Virginia Flores, Texas Child Protective Services

Child Welfare Information Gateway: Find Useful Resources Right at Your Fingertips
Child Welfare Information Gateway connects child welfare and related professionals to comprehensive information and resources to help protect children and strengthen families. We feature the latest on topics from prevention to permanency, including child abuse and neglect, foster care, and adoption. This workshop will help familiarize participants with this important service and wealth of information.

Room: Alvarado BC

Ya Feel Me? Understanding Youth Culture and Perspective
Youth have a particular culture and perspective on life that is often different from those of the adults who work with them. This workshop is an opportunity to interact with youth who have aged out of the foster care system, hear their perspectives on their lives and the child welfare system, and approaches to effectively working with youth. The youth will also present and explain the Foster Youth Bill of Rights and Document of Responsibilities that they created and CYFD adopted.

Room: Alvarado D
Presenter: Adelante (formerly Youth Advocates for New Mexico), a youth advocacy and advisory board

Permanency vs. Process: Ethical Issues about Appeals in Child Abuse/Neglect Cases Approved for Ethics CLEs
This workshop will explore the ethical issues facing respondents’ counsel when the possibility of an appeal arises in a pending case, including the role and responsibility of respondent’s counsel as to their clients and the roles of the Court, Children’s Court Attorneys and GALs/Attorney’s for Youth.

This workshop is repeated in Alvarado D during Workshop Session VI
Room: Alvarado E
Presenter: Peter Klages, Attorney; Daniel J. Pearlman, Attorney; Nancy Simmons, Attorney
The Effects of Early Childhood Trauma on the Developing Brain

This workshop examines the effect of trauma, neglect, and other adverse events on the developing brain. Key principles of neurodevelopment will be discussed. We will explore the implications for clinical practice, education, juvenile justice, custody/placement decisions, and social policy.

Room: Alvarado FGH
Presenters: Linda Zimmerman, LPCC, Founder, CEO, and President, Sandhill Child Development Center; Kurt Wulfekuhler, Ph.D., LPCC, Clinical Director, Sandhill Child Development Center; Jared Roundsville, Director, CYFD Protective Services.

The Art and Science of Leadership

We all have opportunities to lead whether it be from a management position, from the bench, from the middle or from the front line. This workshop will explore research on effective leadership and current leadership models, such as, Adaptive Leadership and Strengths Based Leadership, within a child welfare context.

Room: Franciscan
Presenters: Angela Adams, JD, LMSW, IBS International; Jill May, Foster Care and Adoption Bureau Chief, CYFD

Workshop Session V: Thursday, 3:30 p.m.–5:00 p.m.

A Community Approach for Addressing Sexual Harm by Youth

Research indicates that most youth who have caused sexual harm can successfully remain in their home communities for effective treatment. This presentation provides a clearly defined, structured approach for stopping sexual harm by youth.

Room: Alvarado A
Presenter: Joann Schladale, Founder and Executive Director of Resources For Resolving Violence, Inc.

Appellate Update: New Decisions, Pending Issues and Oldies but Goodies

This workshop focuses on recent New Mexico appellate decisions of importance to both Respondents’ attorneys and counsel for CYFD. Issues pending in the New Mexico Supreme Court will also be explored. To establish the context for current decisions and issues, the presenters will also review important appellate decisions decided in previous years.

Room: Alvarado BC
Presenter: Rebecca Liggett, CYFD Appellate Attorney; Jane B. Yohalem, Certified Appellate Practice Specialist

Fostering Futures: Bridging Advocacy and Mentoring to Assist Older Youth

Facing independence without the support of a caring adult creates unique challenges and tremendous hurdles for older youth in foster care. Fostering Futures is a unique National CASA pilot program, designed to improve the outcomes for these vulnerable youth and to empower them to get involved in the decision-making process before aging out. Currently being piloted through CASA, First Judicial District with CASA programs throughout New Mexico, Fostering Futures could already be working to help youth in your region. This workshop will introduce two key components of Fostering Futures: a comprehensive youth needs assessment, and the “Possible Selves” concept—a research model from the University of Michigan that helps young people achieve their full potential by promoting a positive self-identity, setting goals for the future and planning to achieve those goals. These tools can be used by any adult wishing to motivate any youth—foster, adjudicated, young respondent parents, or even your own children!

Room: Alvarado D
Presenter: Janice B. Quinn, Executive Director, CASA, First Judicial District; Lauren Huichan, President of Adelante, Youth Advocacy and Advisory Board; Kathy Heidel, CYFD Youth Transition Specialist

Working with LGBTQ Youth to Ensure Their Safety, Permanency and Well-being

This workshop will discuss the fundamental terminology, facts, and concepts that agency staff need to know to build an informed and sensitive practice. Participants will become aware of their own beliefs, values and assumptions in relation to LGBTQ people, and will recognize how their interaction with LGBTQ people affects their ability to fulfill their professional roles. Participants will also work through scenarios that will build understanding and comfort with improving outcomes for LGBTQ youth in care.

Room: Alvarado E
Presenters: Garry Bevel, Staff Attorney, ABA Center on Children and the Law’s Opening Doors for LGBTQ Youth in Foster Care project; Andrea Khoury, Director, ABA Youth at Risk Bar-Youth Empowerment Project

Speaking Your Truth: Tools to Use When Speaking About Race and Ethnicity

This workshop will present information on how to have “courageous conversations” and the relationship between that skill and our work as child welfare professionals. Effective Advocacy in Mediation: How Attorneys and other Participants Help or Hinder the Mediation Process Approved for 1.0 Professionalism / 5 General CLEs

How can attorneys be more effective in mediation? What does ‘zealous’ representation mean in the mediation context? What are the goals of mediation and how should advocates and others work to achieve them? Mediation in child related proceedings should help children achieve permanence in a timely manner through well tailored case plans and individualized attention to particular family situations. This presentation and discussion will focus on effective advocacy, best practices in mediation and what may be impeding these processes from helping families. Attorneys, mediators and other mediation participants will learn about successful mediations from this conversation.

Room: Franciscan
Presenter: Kelly Browe Olson, Director of Clinical Programs, Associate Professor at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock; Laura Bassein, Statewide Coordinator, New Mexico Children’s Court Mediation Program; Elizabeth Collard, Respondent’s Attorney/Youth Attorney/Case; Deborah Gray, Children’s Court Attorney, Child Welfare Law Specialist; Susan Malone, M.Ed., LPCC, Professional Contract Mediator

ONCE AGAIN THE CLI IS ACCEPTING THE CHALLENGE TO “GO GREEN.”

We are attempting to save paper, expense, and the environment by providing informational materials electronically. All workshop materials can be found online at www.childrenslawinstitute.org. Please download and print materials you would like to bring to workshops. Also in our efforts to “go green,” we will conduct the conference evaluation electronically. You will receive an email with explicit instructions on Monday January 17, 2011 requesting your evaluation of the conference. Thank you in advance for completing the evaluation.
Workshop Session VI: Friday, 8:30 a.m.—10:00 a.m.

Effectively Working with NM Tribes and the Navajo Nation

The Division of Social Services, Navajo Children and Family Services has been coordinating with the State of New Mexico, CYFD for many years on cases involving Navajo children who have been placed in out-of-home care and/or to meet a permanency plan of adoption for the child. The Navajo Nation and the State of New Mexico have a shared government-to-government responsibility in meeting the requirements of the Intergovernmental Agreement (IGA), which is an agreement between the two entities. Such requirements involve meeting the guidelines of the Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978. Several best practices have evolved from the established government-to-government relationship.

Room: Alvarado A
Presenters: Bernie Teba, Native American Liaison for the New Mexico CYFD, Office of the Secretary; Regina Yazzie, MSW, Director of the Navajo Nation Children and Family Services Program

Examining the Impact of Domestic Violence: DV Dynamics that Impede Meaningful Participation in Judicial and Non-Judicial Child Protection Proceedings

Domestic violence is an underlying issue in large numbers of child protection cases. In many cases, DV has been identified, in others it goes without notice, but not without impact. How do workers, attorneys and judicial officers learn that DV is part of the story in a particular case? What is the impact of the DV dynamics (whether identified or not) on processes like pre-adjudicatory meetings, family centered meetings, mediation, and court hearings? How do we ensure full and meaningful participation by all parties in each of these settings when DV is involved? This workshop will explore, in a high-energy interactive workshop, the deeper layers underlying DV in child protection cases.

Room: Alvarado D
Presenter: Kelly Browe Olson, Director of Clinical Programs and an Associate Professor at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock (U.A.L.R.) Bowen School of Law

How Immigration Impacts Our Youth

The public debate over immigration does little to provide actual information about how immigration impacts youth in NM. This workshop will survey important immigration issues, including CYFD protocol for addressing immigration for youth in the custody of protective services, the role of the Mexican Consulate, special immigrant juvenile status and other immigration relief, and services, the role of the Mexican Consulate, special immigrant juvenile status and other immigration relief, and on- the-ground information about the detention of unaccompanied minors.

Room: Alvarado E
Presenters: Peter Klages, Attorney; Daniel J. Pearlman, Attorney; Nancy Simmons, Attorney

JPO Officers: Personal and Occupational Safety

This workshop will provide a comprehensive overview of safety techniques for those who work in the Juvenile Justice Field. Techniques to be discussed include preparation for field, home and office contact with clients. We will also discuss maintaining a proper state of mind and awareness of potential hazards and threats.

Room: Alvarado FGH
Presenters: Robert Lake, CYFD, JPO Officer Safety Trainer; Mark Bellanca, CYFD, JPO Officer Safety Trainer

Actualizing Positive Youth Development: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly

Positive Youth Development (PYD) is not a specific program, but rather an approach to structuring services, systems, and supports for youth so that young people develop the skills and competencies they need to thrive and enter adulthood ready to face the myriad challenges of adult life. The challenges that exist “actualizing” this approach to youth development are very real. This interactive workshop will explore the advantages, challenges and risks associated with actualizing PYD while keeping young people at the center of the conversation.

Room: Franciscan
Presenters: Michael Brown, Director of Training and Professional Development at New Mexico Forum for Youth in Community

Laura van Dernoot Lipsky is an internationally known trauma worker who has been engaged in this work for 25 years. She has worked locally, nationally and internationally and has been involved in some of our nation’s largest disasters and community crises. Her work has included front-line work with homelessness, domestic violence, sexual assault, child abuse, the sex trade, natural disasters, environmental destruction, and other acute trauma.

Marvin Ventrell founded the Juvenile Law Society in 2009, following 16 years as the chief executive officer of the National Association of Counsel for Children (NACC). From 1989–1993, Mr. Ventrell was a partner in the Billings firm Gannett & Ventrell. During that time, he continued to represent children in dependency cases and became the Yellowstone County Juvenile Public Defender. He was hired by the NACC in 1993. While chief executive of the NACC, Mr. Ventrell grew to national prominence as a writer, scholar, teacher, and consultant in the child welfare arena. The NACC became a national leader in training, education, and technical assistance for child advocates, and rose to prominence as an influence in the development of law and policy for children and families. Mr. Ventrell was awarded the ABA Child Advocacy Award and the Kempe Award, and was named a Fellow of the Colorado Bar Foundation. Mr. Ventrell brought his trial practice expertise from his litigation practice to the juvenile law arena and, together with the National Institute for Trial Advocacy (NITA), established the Rocky Mountain Child Advocacy Training Institute, now in its 15th year. He serves as a faculty trial skills trainer for NITA’s National, Regional, and Specialty Programs.

Father Gregory Boyle, best known as Fr. Greg by all who meet him, is the founder and executive director of Homeboy Industries on Los Angeles. The year 2009 marked the 25th anniversary of Father Greg’s ordination as a priest. Homeboy Industries traces its roots to “Jobs For A Future” (JFF), a program created in 1988 by Fr. Greg at Dolores Mission parish. In an effort to address the escalating problems and unmet needs of gang-involved youth, Fr. Greg and the community developed positive alternatives, including establishing an elementary school and a day care program, as well as finding legitimate employment for young people. Today Homeboy Industries’ nonprofit economic development enterprises include Homeboy Bakery, Homeboy Silkscreen, Homeboy Maintenance, Homeboy/Homegirl Merchandise, and Homegirl Café. Homeboy Industries, now located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles, is recognized as the largest gang intervention and re-entry program in the county, and has become a national model. As executive director of Homeboy Industries and an acknowledged expert on gangs and intervention approaches, Fr. Boyle is a nationally renowned speaker and has received numerous accolades and recognitions on behalf of Homeboy and for his work with former gang members.
